COVID-19 RESPONSE

When the pandemic hit New York City our Housing, Programs, and Data Services teams quickly devised new tracking tools. This collaboration helped us monitor people who were exposed to, tested for, or presumed positive with COVID-19, including:

154 residents of our permanent housing sites across NYC

182 program participants

The coronavirus pandemic created historic risks for Breaking Ground staff and the people we serve. To date, our rapid response and nimble changes in programming helped limit the worst impacts of the virus, including through two key initiatives:

- » Opening more than 120 new stabilization beds for street homeless New Yorkers, with more planned for 2021.
- » Helping store and distribute millions of masks, gloves, and other PPE to over 90 supportive housing providers.

BUILDING THE FUTURE

The Breaking Ground real estate team worked carefully to ensure that housing in development proceeded without delay in 2020:
